

Members of the Audiopharmacy band take time out with members of the Western Musicians and Entertainers Association at the New Nadi Farmers Club.

Audiopharmacy band members Teao (left), Keepyajoy and Ras K' Dee with local fan Viva Akafa at the New Nadi Farmers Club.

Audiopharmacy band member Kwame (left), greets a local during the Masters workshop at the New Nadi Farmers Club.

Western Entertainers and Musicians Association secretary Homer Fare acknowledges Audiopharmacy for their visit.

GETTING INTO THE GROOVE

Visiting American hip-hop fusion band Audiopharmacy made their first visit to Fiji last week for a series of free concerts and master workshops with local musicians. In Nadi, the group spun some tunes and exchanged ideas with the Western Entertainers and Musicians Association at the New Nadi Farmers Club. Photos: LITIA MATHEWSELL

Jayden Liu (left) gets an autograph from Teao of Audiopharmacy on Thursday.

The band boys prepare for an interview with local media agencies at the New Nadi Farmers Club.

New Nadi Farmers Club owners Tom Liu and Tracy Farrington (right) meet with members of the Western Entertainers and Musicians Association after the Masters workshop.

Audiopharmacy band member Teao during the Masters workshop at the New Nadi Farmers Club.

